Little Nell.

Summer came, the green earth's lover, Ripening the tufted clover— Calling down the glittering showers, Breathing on the buds and flowers; Rivaling your pleasant May; In a generous holiday! Smallest insects hummed a tune. Through the blessed nights of June ; And the maiden sung her song. Through the day so bright and long-Dear little Nell.

Autumn came! the leaves were falling-Death, the little one was calling : Pale and wan she grew, and weakly, Bearing all her pains so meekly, That to us, she seemed still dearer As the trial-hour drew nearer. But she left us hopeless, lonely, Watching by her semblance only And a little grave they made her. In the church-yard cold they laid her-Laid her softly down to rest With a white rose on he breast-Poor little Nell!
